HILLEL DAY SCHOOL
כ"א אằm תשל"ח
Hillel Day School was founded in 1958 by a group of lay and rabbinical leaders including Rabbi Jacob E. Segal z”l. In the words of his son Jeremy (class of 1970), “My father thought there should be a good Hebrew day school in Detroit.”

The school opened with 29 students in two classrooms at Seven Mile and Schaefer, and as it grew, moved to various locations in the 1960s before breaking ground at our current location on Middlebelt Road in Farmington Hills, with the landmarked Little Red Schoolhouse at the front of the property.

Over the years, the building has been expanded and renovated from top-to-bottom. Today we are blessed with a cutting-edge campus that prepares Jewish students for the world they will inherit.

Spread out over 16 acres, our sports fields, greenhouse, MakerSpace, and learning communities all enhance the outstanding Jewish and general education that has been our hallmark for 60 years. Our more than 1,700 alumni are our school’s legacy, pursuing careers guided by their Jewish values.

In our 60th year, we have 585 students in our Early Childhood Center through eighth grade. Even as we have grown, what remains steadfast is the tireless dedication of our faculty and staff, our lay leaders, supporters, and volunteers, all of whom believe in our mission to inspire a passion for learning, responsibility to self and community, and devotion to Jewish living in a warm, innovative, and engaging environment. As Jeremy Segal notes, “I think my father would be pleased with what Hillel is today – maybe even a little surprised, but pleased!”

We thank you for joining us tonight to mark this milestone in our school’s history. May we all go from strength to strength!
Our Mission

Hillel Day School of Metropolitan Detroit delivers an outstanding general and Jewish education to Jewish children from preschool through eighth grade.

At Hillel, we inspire a passion for learning, responsibility to self and community, and devotion to Jewish living in a warm, innovative, and engaging environment.

Core Values

Talmud Torah - We believe that all study is sacred because all disciplines are paths to understanding God’s world. We seek to inspire a love of Torah in all its forms, so that our students may become lifelong learners.

Derekh Eretz - We believe in the value of treating every human being with honor and respect. Each individual has worth, as we are all created in the image of God. At Hillel, students, educators, staff, and parents collaborate to create a moral, kind, and caring community.

Ve-Ahavta - A Personal Relationship with God - We believe in the value of forging a loving, personal relationship with God. When we pray, we speak to God; when we study, God speaks to us. Through prayer that is spirited and meaningful, and study in an atmosphere that encourages deep and honest questions, students begin to develop their own lifelong relationship with God.

Tikkun Olam - Perfecting the World - We believe that we are God’s partners in perfecting the world by making it more peaceful, just, and compassionate. Through gemilut hasadim (acts of kindness) and hands-on service projects, our students make a difference in their own communities and in the world at large.

Kedushah - Holiness - We believe that a rich Jewish life can add holiness to our existence. Some mitzvot, such as tzedakah, guide us in our relationships with our fellow human beings; others, such as those related to Kashrut, Shabbat, and the holidays, govern ritual observance. All offer opportunities to sanctify our lives, to elevate the everyday.

Tzionut - Zionism - We believe in the importance of Israel, Zionism, and the Hebrew language. The modern State of Israel is a place where Jewish values come to life, and a home for Jews from around the world. We see spiritual meaning in the existence of the state, and are proud of its continued growth.

K’lal Yisrael - Unity of the Jewish People - We believe in the ultimate unity of the Jewish People. We feel a deep sense of connection to Jews around the world and throughout the generations. Recognizing the variety of beliefs, affiliations, and observances that exists in our community, we seek Shalom Bayit - peaceful coexistence based upon mutual respect and shared values.
A teacher is one who has a program - arithmetic, reading, writing, and so on - fulfills it conscientiously, and feels that he has done his job. An educator tries to give children something else in addition: SPIRIT.

ESTEEMED EDUCATORS

Clara Gaba, Adina Levin, Malka Littman, Ayala Perlstein, Rivka Schuchman, and Pam Smith have each taught at Hillel for more than 25 years – in a few instances, many more than that! They have each made an indelible impact on countless students and the culture of Hillel Day School. Teaching for them is not a profession; it is a calling to instill in every child the faith and values that have perpetuated the Jewish people for millennia, the knowledge they need to succeed, and the confidence that they are loved, and that they possess a sacred purpose in the world.

Morah Littman, a second generation Hillel teacher, followed in the steps of her father, beloved Hillel teacher Menachem Glaser. Morah Perlstein still remembers the Hebrew names of all her students who return to visit the school. Alumni parents who had Morah Levin request that she teach their children, as well. And most graduates fondly remember the dynamic duo of Morahs Gaba and Schuchman, current savtas in the school to their own grandchildren and, it seems, to many more.

Ms. Smith, currently a reading specialist, has instilled a love of literature in countless students throughout the years. Nothing gives our honorees greater satisfaction than to see alumni who continue to be guided by the lessons of their Hillel education.

It is fitting that in celebration of Hillel’s 60th anniversary, we honor these teachers, representing those who came before them, and their current colleagues, for their selfless, loving devotion to our students and school. They embody founding Rabbi Jacob E. Segal’s vision of exemplary Jewish and general education that has guided Hillel and its teachers for the past 60 years. Mazal tov! May you all continue to go from strength to strength.

The highest activity a human being can attain is learning for understanding, because to understand is to be free.

Since joining Hillel in 1992 as a Judaic Studies teacher, Clara Gaba, a native Israeli, has tried to touch students’ hearts “so that they see that Judaism will add meaning to their lives,” she says. In 2000, Clara received the Jewish Theological Seminary award for Teacher of the Year. In 2007, she received the Grinspoon-Steinhardt Award for Excellence in Jewish Education. Her three children, Ron, Ilana, and Amira, are Hillel alumni, and Ilana and Amira have followed in her footsteps as teachers themselves.

Three of her grandchildren also currently attend Hillel. “When I see the Hillel values reflected back years later, as I do in my own children,” she says, “it validates that there is no return on an investment as great as the one parents receive when they invest in Jewish education.”

Raised in Tel Aviv, Adina Levin, the daughter of Holocaust survivors, served as an officer in the IDF before moving to the U.S. in 1976. She joined Hillel as a Judaic Studies teacher in 1984, and earned the 2010 Grinspoon-Steinhardt Award for Excellence in Jewish Education. “I love teaching Torah, connecting its timeless values to our lives today, and sharing my experiences growing up in Israel,” she says. “Now I am teaching a second generation of students. To know that after receiving their own Hillel education, the alumni parents have decided to send their children here, too, is an unbelievable feeling,” she says. “They appreciate the values they learned.”
Born in Netanya, Malka Littman followed her father Menachem Glaser, a revered Hillel teacher, into the classroom in 1989, when she joined Hillel’s faculty as a Judaic Studies teacher. Since then, she has spoken exclusively in Hebrew to her students, who have emerged with language skills they use to this day. What makes her happiest, she says, “is to hear a student has made aliya, or has studied in Israel, or is involved in Jewish organizations on university campuses. It makes me feel like ‘A-Ha! We got it done!’”

After 42 years of teaching, “making a stamp on the Jewish family” continues to be of utmost importance to Judaic Studies teacher Ayala Perlstein, a native of Israel who was raised in a home that prioritized Jewish study and hesed. “No matter where they go, I want my students to feel they are connected to their roots.” She views all of her students as the “seeds of a future Jewish family. I make sure they can carry the torch. I want them to understand God, their relationship with God, and feel like they are a link in the chain while they build skills in reading, writing and conversation.”
Born and raised in Tel Aviv, Rivka Schuchman served in the IDF before moving to the United States. She joined Hillel Day School as a Judaic Studies teacher in 1989. Her two sons, Michael and Gabriel, are Hillel graduates, and her five grandchildren are current students. “We are a very close family,” she says. This closeness extends to her students in whom she instills a love of Israel and Hebrew language. “This is my mission,” she says. “To give kids the tools they need to ensure Jewish continuity.”

Pam Smith is a general studies teacher, and mother of three Hillel alumni, Alexandra, Amanda, and Garrett. As a learning specialist, she inspires children to gain competencies in literacy, and encourages students to love reading and writing. Pam feels that it is important that each student feels valued; it gets reflected back “in what they are able to achieve.” And you can always tell who is a Hillel student or graduate, she adds. “They are confident, leaders in the community, and they stand up for what they believe in.”
Mark Schostak (class of 1977) is the third generation along with his brothers to be involved in Schostak Family Enterprises (SFE), a fourth generation, family-run business with almost 100 years of real estate and banking expertise and over 35 years of restaurant operations expertise.

As a partner in Schostak Family Enterprises, Mark is involved in multiple entities including TEAM Schostak Family Restaurants (TSFR), Schostak Family Investments Co., Schostak Brothers & Co., Inc. (SBCI), and Schostak-Fisher Group. As the real estate division of the company, SBCI owns and operates 97 commercial properties in 24 states including a portfolio of shopping centers, office and industrial buildings and land development throughout Michigan and the greater mid-west.

In the 1980s, Mark, along with HDS alumnus and family friend Elliott Baum (class of 1971), diversified the family investments by entering the franchise food business. Starting with opening Burger King restaurants in small towns in northern Michigan, TSFR had many years of success as a Burger King franchisee throughout Michigan.

Today, Mark is Executive Chairman of TEAM Schostak Family Restaurants. TSFR has an expansive portfolio of casual, fast casual, quick service and family dining restaurants including more than 67 Applebee’s, 27 Olga’s Kitchen, 10 MOD Pizza and 5 Del Taco restaurants with plans for growth for each of its brands.

Rachel Lutz (class of 1994) is a fourth-generation Detroit business owner who now owns and operates four women’s clothing stores in downtown Detroit. A savvy marketer with more than 15,000 social media followers who makes frequent appearances on local television, she has also planned motorcades for the White House, trained fundraisers for urban nonprofits, and encouraged young people to become more active in politics, public service, law and government. Retail jobs helped her pay for her education at Wayne State University, and she also had stints in marketing and selling luxury goods, and working as a personal shopper.

When asked about her time at Hillel, Rachel reflected: “Hillel gave me a solid foundation for every challenge ahead. Leading minyan gave me confidence, Hebrew and Torah studies gave me connection, math and science gave me curiosity, music and art gave me an appreciation of beauty, and social studies gave me my context in the world.”

The Peacock Room, which opened in 2011 in the Park Shelton across from the Detroit Institute of Arts, has been named best women’s retail in Detroit for the past five years by the readers of Hour Detroit and Metro Times magazines. The second flagship location opened in the Fisher Building in November 2017. It was recently featured on the cover of Hour Detroit. YAMA, located in the Fisher Building, opened in November 2017. Frida opened in 2014 in the Park Shelton, and expanded in Summer 2017.

An avid preservationist and city booster, Lutz serves on the board of Pewabic Pottery and is a former board member of Preservation Wayne. She frequently shares her retail wisdom with other startup businesses. She was recognized in 2017 as one of Crain’s Detroit Business “40 Under 40” winners.

A special thanks to outgoing PTO president
MICHELE WEITZMAN
Thank you for your tireless dedication and support.
We are grateful!
Dear Hillel community,

We are blessed to be celebrating our 60th anniversary! Thank you to all of our supporters, past and present, for the dedication that has brought us to this milestone.

Hillel continues to play a vital role in educating the children of our community with both a strong Jewish and general education. The school continues to grow and to prosper in large part because of each of you and the generous support you provide as we work together to build Hillel’s future.

This year, as we celebrate our 60th anniversary, we honor community leader and supporter of Hillel, with the Dream Maker Award. Our six most veteran teachers, Clara Gaba, Adina Levin, Malka Littman, Ayala Perlstein, Rivka Schuchman, and Pam Smith, will receive the Rabbi Jacob E. Segal z”l Award for their collective years of tireless commitment to Hillel and educating our community’s children. Two impressive alumni, Mark Schostak (1977), and Rachel Lutz (1994), will receive the Distinguished Alumni Award.

As I complete my two-year term as president of the Board of Trustees, I would like to thank Steve Freedman, Head of School, for his visionary leadership as he steers our school in the 21st century; our administration, faculty and staff for their deep commitment to making Hillel truly distinctive; and to the Board of Trustees for their incredibly strong devotion to our school.

I know that each of you is committed to ensuring that Hillel can provide the strongest education possible for our community’s children, now and for generations to come. Thank you again for your support.

Kol Hakavod!

May your generosity and leadership be an example to us all.

You have taken on every leadership challenge with wisdom, insight, and a sense of humor.

You are such a mensch - you always strive to do the right thing- and not one single person who taught you at Hillel could have ever seen that coming. (Those lessons obviously had a very long incubation period.)

Dear Honored Teachers,

Each one of you, in your own unique way, has been a shining light in the life of our children. Thank you for teaching them to believe in themselves, to have faith in their own abilities, and believe that if they work hard, there is nothing they can’t accomplish. You gave them hope, ignited their imagination, and instilled a love of learning (most of the time).

We are grateful for your help in raising our children to be menches and to make good choices based on the morals and values taught at home and at school.

May Hashem give you the patience, strength, and good health for many years.

RABBI ROBERT ABRAMSON

His passion for education, children, and repairing the brokeness in this world was visible in all he did, and that legacy will continue through the lives of all those whom he so deeply touched.

EUGENE APPLEBAUM

A kind and quiet man who cultivated generosity, connection and trust, while empowering today's children generation to generation.

“We are instructed by the Torah to give tzedakah to the Jewish people, and I feel a great responsibility to do this. I want to share the success I've had with the Jewish people.” Eugene Applebaum
A gentle, generous and kind man who truly believed that “Music gives a soul to the universe, wings to the mind, flight to the imagination and life to everything.” Plato

A woman of valor. A storyteller for future generations. A survivor.
A community is too heavy to carry alone.
(Deuteronomy Rabbah 1:10)
